About This Game

Imagine if you had the opportunity to attend class at an elite academy for magical girls... Do you think you'd take the opportunity to make new friends? Learn magic? Or... Would you try to date a cute magical girl?

Although you show only a pathetic amount of magical talent, the academy has decided to let you in. You're not sure why, but this is probably a good opportunity to meet some girls! However, you only have one year to prove that you're suitable for the academy. You'll have to balance your studies and chasing girls in order to succeed!

Take time out of your busy schedule to go shopping, attend the debate club, work a part-time job or just relax and see the sights. The choice is yours!

As you get closer to winning the heart of your dream girl, you might find that not everything at the academy is what it seems.

An overwhelming sense of foreboding hangs above the academy like a dark cloud.

There's more to this place than the happy-go-lucky students are letting on...

This game contains scenes that may frighten or disturb some people. All characters are 18 years of age or older.

i use to play ping pong in Denmark and i have won alot of turnament but this game is nothing like the real life so nope this is not happening for me sry. i am there for asking for a refund. When a game is free, I do rate positive as long as I had some fun. Well, I had some fun in this game. I especially liked the bow game and the goalie game. In fact, all the games were average to above average.

This is definitely a must download and play when you're bored and looking for some quick mini-games in VR. I hope they keep updating this game.

Rating 6/10 instead of download, play once, and uninstall .. I will play these again someday soon. The Inquisition, let's begin

The Inquisition, look out sin

We have a mission to convert the Rebels

We're gonna teach them wrong from right

We're gonna help them see the light

And make an offer that they can't refuse (that the Rebels just can't Refuse)

Confess (confess, confess)

Don't be boring

Say yes (say yes, say yes)

Don't be dull

A fact

You're ignoring:

It's better to lose your skullcap than your skull (oy gevalt)\t

The Inquisition, what a show

The Inquisition, here we go

We know you're wishing

That we'd go away

But the Tropicana Inquisition's here and it's here to stay. I can finally hook up with girls!

10/10. I bought this game just so I can take a dump on Rebellion Studio.

A few years ago, Rebellion initiated a lawsuit against Stardock\Ironclad over their game "Sins of a Solar Empire: Rebellion", claiming that anyone who saw the title would associate that game with Rebellion Studio and not Stardock\Ironclad. Now every time I see Rebellion Studio I associate it with trite and meaningless lawsuits.

Way to shoot yourselves in the foot there, Rebellion. Enjoy your first and last purchase from me, don't spend it all on one lawyer..

The game itself is very broken. For some reason, the spacebar takes a screenshot. and it usually crashes on newer systems. Its a very bad steam port. Play the original if you want to have a good time with this game.. Things I like:

-Usual standard of high quality scenery.

-Accurately modelled stations.

-Good textures and reasonable physics on the rolling stock.

- A sensible amount of AI in the quick drives.
 - Holyhead extension now available for a reasonable price.

Things I don't like:

- Sounds are quite bad but are tolerable.
- Texture glitch still present in the Class 158 cab side window.
- Scenarios are not that exciting.

It's a bit of a sightseeing route, with interesting landmarks dotted along the route. Most of the route is flat with few gradients, and you'll find stations can be up to 20 miles apart, good if you fancy a more relaxed journey. Somewhat similar in character to the Riviera Line, although a lot longer and a bit more varied. Only real downside is the usual case of DTG making a fantastic quality route but being a bit lazy with the rolling stock.

Would I buy this route again? Yes, definitely.

Score out of ten: 9\10.

Uwuwuw I expected it to let me trade the skins to my chum chum Wx woman but apparently I can't and now she threatened to break her kneecaps. At least the spools are nice <:). So far the game has been pretty cool. A lot of comments on the game being pay to win. Which is true I guess. I spent .50 cents on unlimited boosts and got a landslide on second try. But most games want you to spend A LOT MORE on things you want in-game. Just wanted to point that out. (.50 cents) LOL..... Anyway the focus on the game should be V.P.S. which is votes per second. If you don't focus on upgrades you will lose. Unlimited boost will randomly give you upgrades or you can buy them but they get pretty expensive. I suggest buying them early then later. and also in the upper right hand corner of screen is a yellow triangle symbol click that to buy 2x multiplier. don't worry doesn't cost real money. I had a VPS of 45,218 x2 was 90,436 votes per second. I was getting 325,569,600 votes per hour. had a total vote count around 1.3- 1.4 billion. and on second try. that's gotta be pretty good. no cheats no mods I swear. so just focus on VPS and you should do well.. If you loved Bomberman, you'll love this!

Similar powerups and gameplay, but with the paid version you're able to customize your character with lots of stuff!

Game runs smooth, and the music is oddly calming.

Lots of fun!. EndWar is a decent real time strategy with a groundbreaking voice control feature. Unfortunately it doesn't always work as promised, so occasionally you have to shout your commands a couple of times more than planned. Eventually you'll just go back to the way you usually give commands; by using menus. It was a good idea but it was too early to implement it just yet. The technology wasn't entirely ready for this kind of gameplay back then.

And yet despite this flaw I had a good time with it, because it does give you the idea that you're the commander in charge and there's an actual war going on. Now, there's not a lot of tactics involved when we're talking about the battles here, because the idea is based on the real life rock paper scissors game. So if you use the right unit against the other you'll most likely win (depending on the amount of units, of course). It's simple, but it works and it doesn't make the game tediously boring, like many other strategy games. It's by no means perfect, but it's definitely fun. Just avoid the voice control feature.

[Rating: 75/100]. Great game i would recommend it ;)

Because this game is so mobile that it's great... This game is good for what it is. It is limited though with voice acting being not great. The gameplay is ok. The simulation is about right. It's not a graphic achievement but it's not terrible. If u wanted a casual poker game ye give it a go but maybe not a full price. Great game to pass some time with.

The music really fits the overall setup. A must see for any D&D or Pathfinder fan!

This webseries is done by the same people who made "The Gamers", "The Gamers: Dorkness Rising", and "The Gamers: Hands of Fate". Unlike the Gamers series, which focuses on depicting the players' characters as they play through a Dungeons and Dragons Campaign and the players themselves in the real world, JourneyQuest is a completely fantasy world setting which follows Perf a screwup wizard who does not want to be on the quest at all and the rest of his party as they seek a magical sword to overthrow the evil kings.

Full of gaming humor, and hilarious high jinks.. good graphics love the item upgrades. This game is worth the ~~1$~~(~ 5 ~$).
